May in Lviv

Teenagers shot a mini-film about Svity

At the beginning of May, we started an interesting contest to help children express themselves, develop creative thinking, learn to work effectively in teams, listen to each other, and find themselves in something new, as each team had to assign the roles within the team independently. We eagerly await the results and believe in each participant, and to increase motivation, we announced the main prize to the children – a trip to a summer camp in the Carpathians!

Sound therapy session

The first session of relieving sound therapy at Svity! It was conducted using various instruments with different frequencies. This is a unique and interesting experience; sound therapy helps to relax and relieve stress effectively.

Award ceremony

On May 20, the winners were determined, and the award ceremony was held. All winners automatically get a place at Svity Carpathian camp, which will take place from June 19 to 27. We are happy for each participant and thank them for their creativity and diligence. Each session in the summer camps is formed with teenagers who undergo the "Svity" programs in Lviv, Khmelnytskyi, and Cherkasy.

May in Cherkasy

Trip to the "White Lotus" temple in Cherkasy

Svity members explore interesting places: on May 20, children learned about Buddhist culture at the unique White Lotus temple. They first warmed up, then practiced kung fu stance to lift their spirits, and then learned about Buddhist traditions: they spun drums, lit incense sticks, and rang bells. Each process was interesting to the teenagers. They also tested their accuracy in throwing coins, while making wishes.

Documentary film festival

The Docudays UA documentary film festival visited the club in Cherkasy. Svity members watched two short films relevant to teenagers, then shared their impressions with each other and analyzed what they have seen.

May in Khmelnytskyi

Rock climbing workshop

In May, participants of the Svity youth club had the opportunity to feel like real climbers by attending a rock climbing workshop. They learned techniques and rules for climbing up and descending from the mountain, used professional equipment, and made friends with real professional trainers.

Cash Flow business game

A Cash Flow game was held in the club, which helps develop financial literacy and money management skills. This exciting game provides an opportunity to learn how to manage finances and understand the real estate and stock markets. Additionally, during the game, children developed practical skills that can be useful in life.

Video mastery workshop

Children honed their skills in camera work at the video mastery workshop. They learned to overcome camera shyness, improved their speaking skills, answered questions, and conducted interviews.
